

CONTENTS.

No. I.—JANUARY.

Henry Barnard, his labors in Connecticut and Rhode Island,	1
London Educational Exhibition, (continued)	81
European Ideas of American Education,	80
Model Department of the Normal School at New Britain,	94
School-house Ornaments,	95
Basement School-rooms,	97
Dr. Barnard's Work on Education in Europe,	98
Teachers' Institutes and School-money in New Hampshire,	100

Resident Editor's Department.

Introductory,	102
Agency of the State Teachers' Association,	103
State Normal School,	103
What is doing for the Improvement of Schools in Connecticut,	104
Vacations,	108
A Good Example,	109
Meeting of the National Association,	109
City and Town Associations,	110
Superintendent of Common Schools,	110
Personal Items,	111
Notices of Books,	111

No. II.—FEBRUARY.

Circular of State Superintendent,	113
School Laws,	117
Index to School Laws,	169
Education in New York,	179
Attendance upon School,	183
Yale College,	185
Educational movements in Norwich and New London,	186
I can't tell a lie,—School Present,	187

Resident Editor's Department.

Union Graded Public Schools,	189
Correspondence,	191
Agency of State Teachers' Association,	192

No. III.—MARCH.

Plans and Arrangements for District Schools, No. II.,	193
Compendium U. S. Census,	195
Duty and Pleasure,	197
Graded Schools,	199
First Report of the Superintendent of Common Schools of Maine,	200
Apathy in regard to Common Schools,	201
The British Navy and Connecticut Schools,	204
The Dark Side,	206
Arithmetic,	208
Asteroids,	210
Pestalozzian Principles of Instruction,	212
Public Schools of Cleveland,	217

Resident Editor's Department.

Ourselves,	219
What is doing for the Improvement of Schools in Connecticut,—Essex—New Haven—New London,	220
New Jersey Redeemed,	221
State Teachers' Association,	222
Agriculture in Common Schools,	222
Items,	223
Book Notices,	224

No. IV.—APRIL.

Drawing in Schools,	225
How shall our Schools be supported,	229
The Nelumbium,	230
Asteroids,	233
A Gentleman,	236
The Promise,	237
Education in Illinois,	238
States for Primary Schools,	239
The Beautiful and Tasteless in Education,	240
What is Poetry?	242
Certain Errors and their Remedy,	243
Hints from a Letter,	245
Avondupois Weight—A Lesson,	246
Course of Composition and Rhetoric,	248

Resident Editor's Department.

Building School-Houses,	250
State Normal School,	251
Powers of School Districts,	252
Absence,	252
New London,	253
A Word from New London,	255
Items,	256

No. V.—MAY.

Obedience,	257
Free Schools,	260
A Lesson in Geography,	263
On Keeping School Registers,	265
The Bright Side,	267
Common Schools of Pennsylvania,	269
Editorial Brevities,	271
The Dollar Mark,	272
Plan of Union School-House, Norwalk,	273
Union School,	277
Organization of Schools,	278
Plans and Arrangements for Dist. Schools,	279
Bristol Union School,	281

Resident Editor's Department.

What is doing for the Improvement of Our Schools,	283
Correspondence,	285
Connecticut Teachers' Association,	287
Items,	288

No. VI.—JUNE.

Course of Study in the High School of New London,	289
Historical Sketch of Trinity College,	292
An Account of a Meteor, by Professor Brocklesby,	295
San Francisco on the Right Track,	298
Mode of Teaching Arithmetic,	300
State Teachers' Association. Proceedings at the Semi-Annual Meeting,	302
Names of Members and other Teachers in Attendance at the Association,	311

Resident Editor's Department.

What is doing for the Improvement of our Schools,	316
Teachers' Institutes,	319
Shall the Journal go to every School District?	319
State Normal School,	320

No. VII.—JULY.

Annual Report of the State Superintendent,	321
A Just Memorial,	333
Attendance, Punctual and Regular,	334
A Lesson in Grammar,	337
Component Elements of the English Tongue,	339
Died of Economy,	340
Honor to whom honor is due,	342
"The People will not stand it,"	342
American Association,	343

Resident Editor's Department.

Notices of Teachers' Meetings,	344
Apology,	344
Graduation of Schools,	345
What is doing in other States for Common Schools,	347
Educational Journals,	348
Correspondence,	348
Notices of Books,	351

No. VIII.—AUGUST.

Superintendent's Report, continued,	353
A Normal Expedition,	363
The True Panacea,	365
Teaching,	367
Extract,	368
Spelling,	370
New Educational Act,	372
Haste not—Rest not,	373
New Arrangement for School Desks,	374
Mind your Steps,	377
Fourth of July at the Normal School,	378
Learn from every one,	379

Resident Editor's Department.

What is doing for the Improvement of Schools in Connecticut,	380
N. Hampshire State Teachers' Association,	381
Books for a Teacher's Library,	382
Educational Meetings,	383
Book Notices,	383

No. IX.—SEPTEMBER.

Superintendent's Report, continued,	385
Holbrook's Common School Apparatus,	395
The School Laws,	396
The Teacher's Vocation,	396
Learn to Labor and to Wait,	398
The Right Spirit,	399
Do it Yourself, Boys,	401
Home Preparation for School,	402
A Word from New Haven County,	403
Names of the Days of the Week,	404
Numerical Frame,	405
Massachusetts Schools,	407
Expanding the Chest,	408
Spelling,	409
School Affairs in Middlefield,	411

Resident Editor's Department.

A word for our Journal,	412
American Journal and College Review,	412
Teachers' Institutes,	413
State Normal School,	415
Book Notices,	416

No. X.—OCTOBER.

Annual Report, of State Superintendent, (finished,)	417
What is Education,	432
The School-Master Boarding 'round,	433
The Old Red School House,	436
Kind Words,	437
Kind Words do not cost much,	438
Plutarch, on Ignorant Teachers,	439
Primary Schools,	439

Resident Editor's Department.

Items,	443
What is doing for Improvement of Schools in Connecticut,	444
Editorial Kindness,	446
State Teachers' Association,	446
Teachers' Institutes,	447
Items for Connecticut,	447

No. XI.—NOVEMBER.

Anniversary Exercises of the Normal School,	449
A few words to Teachers of our Winter Schools,	454
Penmanship,	456
Experience in Manners,	460
Moral Culture,	461
Easy Text Books,	462
Education,	465
Blessed is he that Waiteth,	464
Classified Public Schools,	465
Education vs. Crime,	466
Dr. Clark's Address,	467
The old School-master's Story,	470
Not Ashamed of Ridicule,	473
Willie Graham,	475
Cause of a Country's Enterprise and Prosperity,	477

Resident Editor's Department.

To Teachers and Parents,	477
Teachers' Institutes,	477
Education in New Hampshire,	478
Rules for Study,	479
Items,	479
Notices of Books,	479

No. XII.—DECEMBER.

How to Teach Arithmetic in the Primary School,	482
The Months,	484
L. L. Camp's Address before Alumni of Normal School,	485
The Microscope,	486
The Influence of Example,	498
Henry Barnard, LL. D.,	502
European Views of American Schools, and of Dr. Barnard,	502

Resident Editor's Department.

What is doing for the Improvement of Schools in Connecticut,	506
Middlefield,—School-house Dedication,	507
New Jersey,	509
Prof. William Russell,	509
The New York Teacher,	509
A few words to our Subscribers,	510
Items,	511